What's New for 2022?

- N.C. Tax Rate
North Carolina law was amended to decrease the individual income tax rate to 4.99% for tax year 2022.
- N.C. Child Deduction
North Carolina law was amended to increase the child deduction for tax year 2022. (For more information, see page 13.)
- North Carolina Net Operating Loss
North Carolina law was amended to decouple from federal net operating loss provisions in order to allow for a separate N.C. net operating loss. If your business deductions for tax year 2022 are more than your gross income for tax year 2022, you may have an N.C. net operating loss. (To compute your N.C. net operating loss for tax year 2022, use Form NC-NOL, which is available from the Department's website.)
- Taxed Pass-through Entities
North Carolina law was amended to include a provision that allows certain pass-through entities ("PTEs") to elect to pay North Carolina income tax at the entity level (a "Taxed PTE"). If you are a partner or a shareholder in a Taxed PTE for tax year 2022, you should review the instructions for Form D-400 Schedule S to determine if a N.C. adjustment is needed to account for your share of North Carolina income (loss) from the Taxed PTE. (For more information, see page 18.)

North Carolina law was amended to increase the standard deduction amount for tax year 2022. (For more information, see page 14.)

- Certain Retirement Benefits Received by a Retired Member of the United States Uniformed Services
North Carolina law was amended to allow eligible members of the United States Uniformed Services to deduct military retirement payments received from the United States government. (For more information, see page 18.)

The Office of the Taxpayer Advocate is Here to Help You

What is the Office of the Taxpayer Advocate?

The Office of the Taxpayer Advocate ("OTA") was established by the Secretary of Revenue to help ensure the Department enforces the State's tax laws in an impartial, consistent, secure, and efficient manner. The purpose of OTA is to instill confidence and integrity in the administration of North Carolina's tax laws by ensuring taxpayers are afforded their rights as established in the Taxpayers' Bill of Rights. When a problem arises between a taxpayer and the Department that cannot be resolved through normal administrative channels, OTA will work with the appropriate division within the Department to seek resolution of the problem and ensure that it is handled in a professional manner.

What can the Office of the Taxpayer Advocate do for you?

OTA can help you resolve certain tax issues with the Department. To receive OTA assistance, one or more of the following criteria must be met:

- You must have attempted to resolve your state tax issue(s) through the normal administrative channels. In other words, you must have exhausted ALL administrative remedies provided by law before contacting OTA.
- A Departmental response has not been provided to you by the date promised or within the date required by law.
- You believe that instructions or information provided to you by the Department is incorrect and that the erroneous information caused confusion or led to an unnecessary hardship.
- You have a reoccurring issue that has not been resolved through normal administrative channels.

The Office of the Taxpayer Advocate cannot help with:

- Resolving issues involving a current state audit
- Providing the status of a refund request
- Stopping collection activity
- Waiving taxes, penalties, or interest
- Accepting an offer in compromise

Taxpayers may, however, receive assistance with the above matters by calling our toll-free customer service number at 1-877-252-3052.

How can you reach us?

An eligible taxpayer may request OTA assistance by completing Form NC-TA, which is available on the Department's website. You can also contact the office at 1-919-715-2080.

Before You Begin

Read the instructions carefully before you begin preparing your individual income tax return. Make sure that you complete and attach the proper tax schedules to your tax return. Incomplete or inaccurate information may result in the Department returning your tax return to you, thereby delaying the processing of your tax return and any refund due thereon.

Important: You must enter your entire nine-digit Social Security number(s) ("SSN") in the appropriate boxes on the forms. An incorrect or missing SSN can increase your tax, reduce your refund, or delay your refund.

- Be sure to enter your complete address on your return, including your apartment number, if applicable.
- Make sure you have received all of your W-2s, 1099s, and other tax documents that you need to prepare your return.
- Do not submit photocopies of the return. Submit original forms only. Do not use any prior year forms.
- Use black or blue ink only. Do not use red ink or pencil.
- Write your numbers clearly inside the boxes like this: 17360.00
- Do not use dollar signs ($), commas, decimal points, or other punctuation marks like this: $17360.00
- Do not use brackets to indicate negative numbers. Negative numbers are indicated by either:
 - Filling in the circle next to the number like this (Web version): 123456.00
 - Entering a minus sign in the appropriate space like this (Web-fill version): -12345.00
- If you do not have an entry for a particular line, leave it blank. Do not enter dashes, zeros, draw lines, or other symbols in boxes that you have no entry for that line.
- Round off to the nearest whole dollar. Drop amounts under 50 cents and increase amounts from 50 cents to 99 cents to the next whole dollar.
- Use capital letters.
- Print letters and numbers like this: A B C D E F G H I J K L M N O P Q R S T U V W X Y Z

0 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9

- Fill in applicable circles completely. Example: ☒ Yes ☐ No
- Each year the Department makes available (and approves) several different versions of N.C. tax forms and schedules. Do not mix the different versions. If you submit different versions for the same tax year, the Department cannot process your tax return.

Example: Do not submit a software generated Form D-400 with a web-fill Form D-400TC. Instead, submit a software generated Form D-400 and a software generated Form D-400TC, or a web-fill Form D-400 and a web-fill Form D-400TC.

General Information

The information contained in this booklet is to be used as a guide in the preparation of the 2022 North Carolina individual income tax return and is not intended to cover all provisions of the law. For further information on North Carolina tax law, refer to the administrative rules, bulletins, directives, or other publications issued by the Department of Revenue.

The references to line numbers on federal income tax returns were correct at the time this booklet was published. If line numbers have changed since publication and you are unable to determine the proper line to use when completing your North Carolina tax return, contact the Department of Revenue at 1-877-252-3052.

Who Must File a North Carolina Individual Income Tax Return?

The minimum gross income filing requirements under North Carolina law are different from the filing requirements under the Internal Revenue Code because North Carolina law does not allow the same standard deduction amount as the Internal Revenue Code. Even if your federal gross income was less than the amount shown on the Filing Requirements Chart on page 6 for your filing status, you must file a N.C. tax return to receive a refund if you had N.C. income tax withheld during the year.

If you were not required to file a federal income tax return, but your total gross income from all sources both inside and outside of N.C. exceeds the amount for your filing status shown in the Filing Requirements Chart on page 6, you must complete a federal income tax return and attach it to your N.C. tax return to show how your federal adjusted gross income and deductions were determined.

You and your spouse must file a joint N.C. tax return if you file a joint federal income tax return and both you and your spouse were residents of N.C. or both of you had N.C. taxable income.

If you file a joint federal income tax return and your spouse is a nonresident of N.C. and had no N.C. taxable income, you may file a joint N.C. tax return or file a N.C. tax return as married filing separately. Once you file a joint N.C. tax return, you cannot choose to file a separate N.C. tax return for that year after the due date of the return. If you choose to file the N.C. tax return as married filing separately, you must complete either a federal tax return as married filing separately reporting only your income and deductions or a schedule showing the computation of your separate income and deductions and attach it to your N.C. tax return. Note: Itemized deductions of a married couple may be claimed by a spouse only if that spouse was obligated to pay the items and actually paid the amount during the year. In the case of a joint obligation (such as mortgage interest and real estate taxes), the deduction is allowable to the spouse who actually paid the item.

North Carolina Resident. If you were a resident of North Carolina during tax year 2022, you must file a North Carolina individual income tax return if your gross income for 2022 exceeds the amount shown in the Filing Requirements Chart on page 6 for your filing status. You were a resident of North Carolina if you were domiciled in this state at any time during 2022 or if you resided in this state during 2022 for other than a temporary or transitory purpose. In the absence of convincing proof to the contrary, an individual who is present within North Carolina for more than 183 days during the taxable year is presumed to be a resident, but the absence of an individual from the state for more than 183 days raises no presumption that the individual is not a resident.

A resident who moves from the state during 2022 is considered a resident of North Carolina until the individual has both established a definite domicile elsewhere and abandoned any domicile in North Carolina. A taxpayer may have several places of abode in a year, but at no time can an individual have more than one domicile. A mere intent or desire to make a change in domicile is not enough; voluntary and positive action must be taken.

Part-Year Resident. If you were a part-year resident of North Carolina during tax year 2022 and you received income while a resident of North Carolina, or you received income in 2022 while a nonresident that was (1) attributable to the ownership of any interest in real or tangible personal property in North Carolina, (2) derived from a business, trade, profession, or occupation carried on in North Carolina, or (3) derived from gambling activities in North Carolina, and your total gross income for 2022 exceeds the amount shown in the Filing Requirements Chart on page 6 for your filing status, you must file a 2022 North Carolina individual income tax return. You were a part-year resident of North Carolina if you moved to North Carolina and became a resident of North Carolina during 2022, or you moved out of North Carolina and became a resident of another state during 2022.

Nonresident. If you were not a resident of North Carolina at any time during tax year 2022, but you received income in 2022 from North Carolina sources that was (1) attributable to the ownership of any interest in real or tangible personal property in North Carolina, (2) derived from a business, trade, profession, or occupation carried on in North Carolina, or (3) derived from gambling activities in North Carolina, and your total gross income from all sources both inside and outside of North Carolina exceeds the amount in the Filing Requirements Chart on page 6 for your filing status, you must file a 2022 North Carolina individual income tax return.

Nonresident Alien. A nonresident alien is an alien (not a U.S. Citizen) who has not passed the green card test or the substantial presence test (For more information on the green card test and the substantial presence test, see federal publication 519, U.S. Tax Guide for Aliens.) For North Carolina tax purposes, a nonresident alien may be considered a resident, part-year resident, or nonresident. (For more information, on filing requirements for each residency status, see above.)

Military Personnel. If you were serving in the United States Armed Forces during tax year 2022 and your legal residence was North Carolina, you must file a 2022 North Carolina individual income tax return and North Carolina income tax should be withheld from your pay regardless of where you may be stationed. If you were a legal resident of another state stationed in North Carolina on military orders, you are not liable for North Carolina income tax on your military pay. However, income that is (1) attributable to the ownership of any interest in real or tangible personal property in North Carolina, (2) derived from other employment, a business, or trade carried on in North Carolina, or (3) derived from gambling activities in North Carolina is subject to North Carolina income tax.

Military Spouse. The Servicemembers Civil Relief Act prohibits North Carolina from taxing the income earned for services performed in North Carolina by a spouse of a servicemember stationed in North Carolina if: (1) the servicemember is present in North Carolina solely in compliance with military orders; (2) the spouse is in North Carolina solely to be with the servicemember; and (3) the spouse is domiciled in the same state as the servicemember.

The Veterans Benefits and Transition Act of 2018 amended the Servicemembers Civil Relief Act to allow the spouse of a servicemember to elect to use the same state of residence as the servicemember for state tax purposes. This election can be made regardless of when or where the taxpayers were married.

The income earned for services performed in North Carolina by the spouse of a servicemember who made the residency election under the Veterans Benefits and Transition Act of 2018 is not subject to North Carolina income tax if: (1) the servicemember is present in North Carolina serving in compliance with military orders; (2) the servicemember's spouse is in North Carolina solely to be with the servicemember; and (3) the active duty servicemember maintains legal residence in a state other than North Carolina and the servicemember's spouse elects that same state as their state of legal residence.

If all three of the above conditions are met, an employer is not required to withhold North Carolina tax from wages paid to the military spouse. A spouse who does not meet all of the requirements should see the instructions for Form D-400 Schedule PN, on page 21.

Note: Withholding from wages paid to a military spouse is required if all three of the above conditions are not met.

What Form Should I File?

All individuals (including part-year residents and nonresidents) required to file a North Carolina individual income tax return must file Form D-400, using the same tax year you used for federal income tax purposes. If you filed your federal income tax return using a fiscal year, you must file your North Carolina tax return on a Form D-400 for the year in which the fiscal year begins. For example, a 2022 D-400 must be used for a fiscal year that begins in 2022.

Form D-400 Schedule S, 2022 N.C. Adjustments for Individuals. Complete this form if you are required to add certain N.C. adjustments to federal adjusted gross income, or if you are entitled to deduct certain N.C. adjustments from federal adjusted gross income. (For more information, see page 17.)

Form D-400 Schedule A, 2022 N.C. Itemized Deductions. Complete this form if you choose to itemize North Carolina deductions. (For more information, see page 20.)

Form D-400 Schedule PN, 2022 Part-Year Resident and Nonresident Schedule. If you are a part-year resident or nonresident who received income from North Carolina sources during tax year 2022, complete this form to determine what percent of your total income is from North Carolina sources. (For more information, see page 21.)

Form D-400 Schedule PN-1, 2022 Other Additions and Other Deductions. If you complete Form D-400 Schedule PN, you may be required to complete this form to report North Carolina additions and deductions that relate to gross income not specifically listed on Form D-400 Schedule PN. (For more information, see page 21.)

Form D-400TC, 2022 Individual Income Tax Credits; Form NC-478, 2022 Summary of Tax Credits Limited to 50% of Tax; NC-Rehab, 2022 Historic Rehabilitation Tax Credits. Complete these forms to claim various North Carolina tax credits. (For more information, see page 22.)

Form NC-NOL, 2022 Net Operating Loss Worksheet. Complete this form to determine if you have a N.C. net operating loss. (For tax year 2022, Form NC-NOL is available on the Department's website.)

Form D-400 Schedule AM, North Carolina Amended Schedule. Complete this form if you need to amend your North Carolina individual income tax return. Enter the calendar year or other tax period (beginning and end dates) to be amended at the top of Form D-400 Schedule AM. You must also fill in the circle on the top right hand corner of Form D-400. (For more information, see page 24.)

Important: Any facsimile or substitute form must be approved by the Department of Revenue prior to its use. If you use computer-generated returns, the software company is responsible for requesting approval and receiving an assigned identification number. The Department publishes a list of software developers who have received approval on our website. Photocopies of the return are not acceptable. Returns that cannot be processed by the Department's imaging and scanning equipment will be returned to the taxpayer with instructions to refile on an acceptable form.

When Must I File?

If you file your return on a calendar year basis, the 2022 return is due on or before April 15th, 2023. A fiscal year return is due on the 15th day of the 4th month following the end of the taxable year.

When the due date falls on a Saturday, Sunday, or legal holiday, your return will be considered timely filed so long as you file the return on the next succeeding day which is not a Saturday, Sunday, or a legal holiday. For example, in 2023, April 15 lands on Saturday and Emancipation Day, a legal holiday in the District of Columbia, will be observed on Monday, April 17, 2023. If your 2022 calendar year return is postmarked on or before April 18, 2023, your return will be considered timely filed. (For more information on timely mailing North Carolina tax returns, see "Directive TA-18-1" available on the Department's website.)

Out of the Country. If you are out of the country on the original due date of the return, you are granted an automatic four month extension to file your North Carolina individual income tax return if you fill in the circle on page 1 of Form D-400. "Out of the Country" means you live outside the United States and Puerto Rico and your main place of work is outside the United States and Puerto Rico, or you are in military service outside the United States and Puerto Rico. The time for payment of the tax is also extended; however, interest is due on any unpaid tax from the original due date of the return until the tax is paid.

Nonresident Aliens. Nonresident aliens are required to file returns at the same time they are required to file their federal returns. (For a definition of nonresident alien, see page 5.)

What is the Tax Rate?

For tax year 2022, the individual income tax rate is 4.99%. To calculate your North Carolina tax liability, multiply your North Carolina taxable income by 4.99% (0.0499).

Can I Get an Extension to File?

A taxpayer who receives an automatic extension to file a federal individual income tax return will be granted an automatic state extension to file their N.C. individual income tax return. In order to receive the automatic state extension, you MUST fill in the "Federal Extension" circle on page 1 of Form D-400.

If you did not receive an automatic state extension to file your N.C. individual income tax return, you may still request an extension of time to file your return by filing Form D-410, Application for Extension for Filing Individual Income Tax Return, by the original due date of the N.C. tax return. Without a valid state extension, a N.C. individual income tax return filed after the original due date is delinquent and is subject to interest and all applicable penalties provided by law. Important: Although you are not required to make a payment of the tax you estimate as due with Form D-410, an extension of time to file a state tax return does not extend the time to pay the tax. If you do not pay all of the tax you owe by the original due date, you will owe interest on the remaining balance. You may also be charged penalties. (For more information on interest and penalties, see "Will I Owe Interest and Penalties?" on page 8 of these instructions or the Department's website.)

Where Do I File?

If you are due a refund and you choose not to e-file your return, mail your North Carolina individual income tax return to the following address:

N.C. DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE
P.O. BOX R
RALEIGH, NC 27634-0001

If you are not due a refund and you choose not to e-file your return, mail your North Carolina individual income tax return, any payment due, and Form D-400V to the following address:

N.C. DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE
P.O. BOX 25000
RALEIGH, NC 27640-0640

How Can I Pay?

If you owe additional tax, you can pay online by bank draft (free), or credit or debit card using Mastercard or Visa ($2 convenience fee for every $100 paid). This online service is secure and convenient. For details, visit the Department's website.

You can also pay by check or money order. Do not send cash. The Department will not accept a check, money order, or cashier's check unless it is drawn on a U.S. (domestic) bank and the funds are payable in U.S. dollars. Make your check or money order payable to the N.C. Department of Revenue for the full amount due. Write "2022 D-400" and your name, address, and the last 4 digits of your Social Security number on your payment. If you are filing a joint return, write the last 4 digits of both Social Security numbers on your payment in the order that they appear on the return.

If you do not pay online, you must visit the Department's website and generate a personalized D-400V, Individual Income Tax Payment Voucher. Submit the payment voucher with your return and payment, and mail to the following address:

N.C. DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE
P.O. BOX 25000
RALEIGH, NC 27640-0640

If you use tax software to prepare your return, be sure to include Form D-400V and payment with your return generated by the software package. Important: If you owe additional tax on a 2022 amended return, see "Instructions for Form D-400 Schedule AM," on page 24. In addition, Form D-400V Amended should be used when making a payment for a 2022 amended return.

Will I Owe Interest and Penalties?

Interest. If you do not pay the total amount of tax you owe, the Department is required to charge interest on any unpaid tax. Interest is computed at the applicable rate from the original due date to the date of payment, whether or not you have been granted an extension. For most taxpayers the original due date is April 15th. To obtain the current interest rate, visit the Department's website.

If you pay your tax after the original due date, compute the amount of interest due and include the interest on Form D-400, Line 26c.

Interest on the Underpayment of Estimated Income Tax. If the total tax shown due on your 2022 N.C. tax return minus tax credits and the amount paid through North Carolina income tax withholding is $1,000 or more, you may owe interest on the underpayment of estimated income tax. To see if you owe interest, you should complete Form D-422, Underpayment of Estimated Tax by Individuals. Form D-422 is available on the Department's website. Interest is not due if each payment equals 25 percent (25%) of the lesser of 90 percent (90%) (66 2/3 percent (66 2/3%) for farmers and fishermen) of the tax due on your current year's return or 100 percent (100%) of the tax due on your previous year's return.

If interest on the underpayment of estimated income tax is applicable, compute the amount of interest due and include the interest on Form D-400, Line 26e. If a refund is due, subtract the amount of the interest due from the refund. (For more information on interest on the underpayment of estimated income tax, see G.S. 105-163.15 or visit the Department's website.)

Failure to File Penalty. Returns filed after the original due date without a valid extension are subject to a penalty of 5 percent (5%) of the net tax due for each month, or part of a month, the return is late (maximum 25 percent (25%)). If you file your return late, include this penalty on Form D-400, Line 26b.

Failure to Pay Penalty. Returns filed after the original due date are subject to a late payment penalty. Effective for assessments dated on or after January 1, 2023, the applicable rate is five percent (5%) of the net tax due, regardless of how late the tax is paid.

If you received a state extension to file your N.C. individual income tax return and you paid at least 90 percent (90%) of the tax due by the original due date, you will not be automatically penalized for late payment. If the 90 percent (90%) rule is met, any remaining balance due, including interest, must be paid with the income tax return on or before the extended due date to avoid the late payment penalty. If your payment is late, calculate the amount of penalty due and include it on Form D-400, Line 26b.

On an amended return, the late payment penalty will not be assessed if the amount shown due on the amended return is paid when the return is filed. A proposed assessment of additional tax due is subject to the late payment penalty if payment of the tax is not received within 45 days of the date of the notice of proposed assessment.

Other Penalties. North Carolina law provides for other penalties for negligence, filing a frivolous return, and fraud. Criminal penalties also apply for fraud with intent to evade or defeat the tax and for willful failure to file a return, supply information, or pay the tax. (For more information on penalties, see G.S. 105-236(a) or visit the Department's website.)

What if I Owe More than One Penalty? If you owe more than one penalty, compute the amount of each penalty owed and enter the total amount on Form D-400, Line 26b.

Collection Assistance Fee. Any tax, penalty, and interest not paid within 60 days after a Notice of Collection is mailed will be assessed a 20 percent (20%) collection assistance fee. The fee does not apply if the tax debt is paid in full or an installment payment agreement is established with the Department before the fee is assessed.

What if I am an Innocent Spouse?

Generally, both spouses are jointly and severally liable for the full amount of tax due on a joint N.C. tax return. Thus, both spouses on a married filing jointly return are generally held responsible for all the tax due even if one spouse earned all the income or claimed improper deductions or tax credits. However, a spouse will be allowed relief from a joint state income tax liability if the spouse qualifies for federal innocent spouse relief under Internal Revenue Code section 6015. (For more information on when a spouse may be relieved of a federal tax liability, see federal publication 971, Innocent Spouse Relief.)

Do I Need to Pay Estimated Income Tax?

You are required to pay estimated income tax if the tax shown due on your return, reduced by your North Carolina tax withheld and allowable tax credits, is $1,000 or more regardless of the amount of income you have that is not subject to withholding. Each payment of estimated income tax must be accompanied by Form NC-40, North Carolina Individual Estimated Income Tax. You can also pay your estimated income tax online. (For more information on estimated income tax, see the Department's website.)

You should figure your estimated income tax carefully to avoid having to pay a large amount of tax when you file your return and to avoid owing interest on the underpayment of estimated income tax. Payment of estimated income tax does not relieve you of your responsibility for filing a return if one is due.

What is a Refund Setoff?

If you owe another state or local agency, the amount you owe may be deducted from your refund. If you have an outstanding federal income tax liability, the Internal Revenue Service may claim your North Carolina refund. Note: The application of a refund against debts owed to state agencies, local agencies, or the Internal Revenue Service is not subject to Departmental review.

Need to Call Us About Your Refund?

You can check the status of your refund at the Department's website. The automated refund inquiry line 1-877-252-4052 (toll-free) will also give you the status of your current refund. You can also obtain amended return refund information. Service is available 24 hours a day, seven days a week. You will need your Social Security number and the amount of refund shown on your return when you call. (If you are married filing jointly, you will need the Social Security number of the primary taxpayer.)

What is the Statute of Limitations for Refunds?

Generally, to receive a refund, your return must be filed within three years from the date the return was due or within two years after the tax was paid, whichever date is later. However, special rules extending the statute of limitations for refunds beyond the normal three-year statute of limitations apply to overpayments attributable to: (1) federal determinations, (2) worthless debts or securities, (3) capital loss carrybacks, (4) net operating loss carrybacks, and (5) contingent events. (For more information on the statute of limitations for refunds, see G.S. 105-241.6 or visit the Department's website.)

When Must I File an Amended Return?

Generally, an amended return on which you owe additional tax is required to be filed and the tax paid within three years after the date you filed your return or within three years from the date required by law for filing the return, whichever is later.

If the Internal Revenue Service makes changes to an individual's federal return, the individual must report the changes to the state by filing an amended return within six months from the date the report from the Internal Revenue Service is received. If an individual does not amend the state return to reflect the federal changes and the Department of Revenue receives the report from the Internal Revenue Service, an assessment may be made by the Department within three years from the date of receipt of the report, and the individual's right to any refund which might have been due by reason of the change is forfeited.

In addition, if an individual voluntarily files an amended federal return that increases the amount of state tax payable, the individual must file an amended North Carolina return within six months of filing the amended federal return. If the amended federal return contains an adjustment that would decrease the amount of state tax payable, the individual may file an amended North Carolina return within the general statute of limitations for obtaining a refund. If an individual does not amend the state return to report the federal changes, an assessment may be made by the Department within three years after the date the federal amended return was filed with the Internal Revenue Service, and the individual's rights to any refund which might have been due by reason of the amended return is forfeited.

For more information on how to amend your North Carolina individual income tax return, see "Instructions for Form D-400 Schedule AM" on page 24. (For more information on federal determinations and amended returns, see G.S. 105-159, G.S. 105-241.8, or visit the Department's website.)

What are My Rights as a North Carolina Taxpayer?

As a taxpayer, you are always entitled to fair, professional, prompt, and courteous service. The Department's goal is to apply the laws of North Carolina consistently and fairly so that your rights are protected and that you pay only your fair share of North Carolina tax. It is your right to have information about your tax history, financial situation, and assessment or reviews kept in strict confidence. Any return information, correspondence, or Departmental discussion concerning your tax situation is confidential. Employees or former employees who violate this confidentiality are subject to criminal prosecution and possible fines. An employee who willfully discloses tax information is also subject to dismissal.

The Department routinely examines returns to ensure taxpayers comply with tax statutes. If the Department examines your return, the Department may ask you to provide information to verify items on your return. You are entitled to a fair examination and an explanation of any changes the Department proposes to your return.

If you object to a proposed denial of refund or a proposed notice of tax assessment (collectively, "proposed action"), you may request a Departmental review of the proposed action by timely filing a request for Departmental review within 45 days of the date the notice was mailed or delivered to you. A request for Departmental review filed within 45 days of the date the notice was mailed or delivered to you is considered timely filed. If a request for a Departmental review is not timely filed, the proposed action is final and is not subject to further administrative or judicial review. An assessment for an amount shown due on a return but not paid, or the application of a refund against debts owed to state agencies, local agencies, or the Internal Revenue Service is not subject to Departmental review. To obtain a copy of the North Carolina Taxpayers' Bill of Rights, visit the Department's website.

How Long Should I Maintain My Tax Records?

You should keep canceled checks, receipts, and other documentation, including a copy of your federal return, to verify any amount entered on your tax return until the statute of limitations expires for the return. Usually, this is three years from the due date of the return or three years from the date the return is filed, whichever is later. Lack of adequate records may result in the disallowance of all or part of the deductions. Your canceled check, money order stub, or Departmental receipt showing payment of tax should be kept for at least five years from the due date of the tax return.

Can I File a Substitute Tax Return With The Department?

Any facsimile or substitute tax form must be approved by the Department of Revenue prior to its use. If you use computer-generated returns, the software company is responsible for requesting approval and receiving an assigned identification number. The Department publishes a list of software developers who have received approval on our website. Photocopies of the return are not acceptable. Returns that cannot be processed by our imaging and scanning equipment will be returned to the taxpayer with instructions to refile on an acceptable form.

Instructions for Form D-400 Schedule S, N.C. Adjustments for Individuals

The starting point for North Carolina taxable income is federal adjusted gross income as of April 1, 2021. This means that all changes made to the Internal Revenue Code as of April 1, 2021, apply when calculating North Carolina taxable income for tax year 2022 unless North Carolina specifically does not conform to federal income tax law. For example, North Carolina does not conform to the federal standard deduction amount or to federal itemized deductions. Because there are areas of nonconformity with federal income tax law, taxpayers may need to make modifications to federal adjusted gross income, (collectively "N.C. adjustments").

All taxpayers must determine if a N.C. adjustment applies to their N.C. income tax return. Importantly, Form D-400 Schedule S, provides a list of all available N.C. adjustments. (For information on a specific N.C. adjustment, see the 2022 Personal Taxes Bulletin which is available from the Departments website.)

Part A. Additions to Federal Adjusted Gross Income (If you have items that are not included in federal adjusted gross income but are taxable to North Carolina, complete Lines 1 through 16.)

Line 1. Interest Income from Obligations of States Other than N.C. Enter the amount of interest received from notes, bonds, and other obligations of states and political subdivisions other than North Carolina if not included in federal adjusted gross income. This includes exempt interest dividends received from regulated investment companies (mutual funds) to the extent such dividends do not represent interest from obligations of North Carolina or its political subdivisions.

Line 2. Deferred Gains Reinvested into an Opportunity Fund. North Carolina did not follow the temporary deferral of income for certain gains timely invested in a qualified Opportunity Fund under IRC section 1400Z-2. On Line 2, enter the amount of gain reinvested into a qualified Opportunity Fund under IRC section 1400Z-2 that was excluded from federal AGI. Note: If you were required to include a gain in federal adjusted gross income under IRC section 1400Z-2 in tax year 2022, you may deduct the gain to the extent the same income was included in the calculation of N.C. taxable income during a prior year.

Line 3. Bonus Depreciation. North Carolina did not adopt the 100% bonus depreciation provisions in IRC sections 168(k) or 168(n) for property placed in service for tax year 2022. You must add 85% of the amount of bonus depreciation deducted on your federal return to your state return.

On Line 3, enter 85% of the amount of bonus depreciation deducted on your federal return. Note: If you are required to add back bonus depreciation in tax year 2022, you may deduct 20% of the amount added back in the first five taxable years beginning with tax year 2023. (For further guidance on bonus depreciation, visit the Department's website.)

Line 4. IRC Section 179 Expense. North Carolina did not conform to the increased federal expense deduction or increased investment limitations for tax year 2022. N.C. dollar and investment limitations are $25,000 and $200,000, respectively. You must add 85% of the difference between the IRC section 179 expense deduction using federal limitations and the deduction using N.C. limitations.

On Line 4, enter 85% of the difference between the IRC section 179 expense deduction using federal limitations and the deduction using N.C. limitations. Note: If you are required to add back IRC section 179 expenses in tax year 2022, you may deduct 20% of the amount added back in the first five taxable years beginning with tax year 2023. (For further guidance on IRC section 179, visit the Department's website.)
